Wine Journal, January 2006

“The nose is very closed, similar to many other wines. But a beautiful, unctuous palate follows, ravishing an eager to please. Wonderfully integrated new oak, seamless tannins with a lush, plummy blackberry finish. Voluptuous and very long. Superb.”

The West Australian, Ray Jordan, 6th October 2005

“The Reiver shiraz 2004 moves the bar up considerably. It’s all Barossa fruit from around the Greenock and gets about 70 per cent new oak, most of which is French. In some ways its elegant and slightly refined, restrained style is atypical of the Barossa. But behind it the lush warm earthiness perhaps gives a clue to its origins. This is a wine with a long-term future.”

Winefront Monthly, Campbell Mattinson, Oct/Nov 2005, 91 points

“Thick and rich and sexy, if simple. Concentrated, dense black fruits, sweet, coffeed, cedary, integrated oak and tannins that have been judged to perfection. The grapes were very, very ripe, but the winemaking is superb. It rings sweet, warm, long and ripe. This is a successful wine. Drink 2006-2011”
